

AUTOMATED CHIME

ABSTRACT

5 A chime apparatus includes a rose and a number of chime rods. A striker is attached to the rose and is positioned adjacent the chime rods. A motor activates the striker to strike the chime rods. The motor can be operated by a control circuit to move the striker to thereby simulate 10 random chiming sounds.